FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Scholarships Awarded to Local Students by The Roanoke Regional Home Builders Association

Salem (May 21, 2009) – The Roanoke Regional Home Builders Association, Inc. (RRHBA) has awarded the following scholarships:

Ryan Brock – Northside High School & Burton Center for Arts and Technology ($500)

Craig Tripp – William Byrd High School & Roanoke Valley Governor's School ($500)

David Glenn – Virginia Tech ($500)

Ryan Brock will graduate from Northside High School. He plans to study Architecture at Virginia Tech.

Craig Tripp will graduate from William Byrd High School and plans to study Engineering at Virginia Tech.

Mr. Tripp's scholarship was made possible by the family of the late Wayne Morris of C. W. Morris Construction Co. (Goodview).

David Glenn is currently attending Virginia Tech majoring in Building Construction.

RRHBA's annual scholarship program was established in 1990 in order to provide assistance to qualified area high school seniors and Virginia Tech students who are furthering their education in a building related curriculum.

The RRHBA is a non-profit trade organization with over 400 member firms dedicated to being the respected voice of the residential and commercial building industry. RRHBA is affiliated with the Home Builders Association of Virginia (HBAV) and the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB).
